Summary of Proposed Change

The Title V Workload Analysis for the budget year 2007 - 2008 will be discussed in a public hearing December 10, 2007, at 9:30 a.m. in the 9th Floor Conference Room of the L & C Annex, located at 401 Church Street, Nashville, Tennessee 37243-1531. This document contains the supporting information for the suggested fee increase contained in the regulatory notice published in the Tennessee Administrative Register on October 15, 2007. Copies of the Workload are now in the public depositories for public inspection.

Regional haze is fine particle pollution that impairs visibility over a large region including Class I areas such as national parks and wilderness areas. Sources of haze-forming emissions include coal-fired power plants, industrial boilers, and mobile source emissions. U. S. EPA's regional haze rule requires states to demonstrate reasonable progress toward meeting the national goal of a return to natural visibility conditions by 2064. The rule directs states to show a uniform rate of progress toward natural conditions for each Class I area in Tennessee and for certain areas in other states.

State Implementation Plans (SIPs) must include an assessment of baseline visibility conditions and a monitoring strategy for measuring, characterizing, and reporting of regional haze visibility impairment. States must also consider ongoing control programs, measures to mitigate construction activities, source retirement and replacement schedules, smoke management programs for agriculture and forestry, and enforceability of specific measures.

The SIPs for the first review period are due December 17, 2007. These plans will cover long-term strategies for visibility improvement between baseline conditions in 2002 and 2018. States are required to evaluate progress every five years to assure that emission controls are on track with emissions reduction forecasts in each SIP. At both Class I areas in Tennessee, visibility improvements on the worst days are expected to be better than the uniform rate of progress glide path by 2018 based solely on reductions from existing and planned emissions controls.

Revisions considered at this hearing may be adopted by the Tennessee Air Pollution Control Board under T.C.A. 68-201-105, the Board general authority to promulgate rules.
